The first week in August, 50 years ago, was a time of quielness. The question of whether Norwich or New London would get the new courthouse that was planned, was a topic of lively comment, particularly after a party of Norwich humorists went down in the night season and made off with a model that had been exhibited in a Fourth of July parade there. 85TH BIRTHDAY OF

DAVID H. FANNING. Prominent Worcester Manufacturer Hale and Vigorous.

On Wednesday, Aug. 4, the Worcester Gazette said of David H. Fanning:
Today is the 85th birthday anniversary of David H. Fanning, president of the Royal Worcester Corset company, and although Mr. Fanning expected no special observance of the event, neither the members of his family nor the employes of his factory allowed the day to pass unnoticed. All lowed the day to pass unnoticed. All the members of his family, including a daughter from Philadelphia, arrived during the morning to pass the day at the Fanning home, 150 Woodland street. A birthday luncheon and a birthday dinner, as well as the reun-ion, are features of the observance there. Office employes of the factory sent to the Fanning home an enormous basket of roses as their testimonial by special messenger.

Mr. Fanning is an alert and active man, and in spite of years that would be a burden to some men he keeps his fingers on the pulse of his enormous plant in Worcester, constant-ly directing the business. His vener-able figure is seen almost daily in the factory offices, and he visits the other rooms of the plant almost as often.

Mr. Fanning began the work of making corsets in a single room in Main street. The business prospered and location after location was secured and outgrown until the present factory site was acquired. The build-ing there was intended to meet all de-mands, but has been added to and im-proved. It is now regarded as one of the model factories of the country, with every known appliance for the com-fort and the safeguarding of the health

Under the caption of "an act pro-viding for the incarceration of inebri-ates," the statutes passed by the last legislature make these provisions about the farm for inebriates:

Who Are "Inebriates" Section 1—The term "inebriate" as used in this act shall include all male habitual drunkards or dipsomaniacs who have lost the power of self control by the intemperate use of stimulants or narcotics. After providing for the establish-ment at the Norwich state hospital a department to be known as the state department to be known as the state farm for inebriates, which shall be for males and shall be under the management of the trustees of the hospital, with the hospital superintendent and treasurer active in these respective capacities, the act goes on to provide that as soon as the buildings are ready for use the trustees shall notify each probate court and other courts having jurisdiction in oriminal cases that it is ready to receive inebriates for treatment.

ment. Section 4-After the receipt of such notice the superior court, any crim-inal court of common pleas, or district, city, borough, police or town court having criminal jurisdiction, may com-mit to said farm any common drunkard or any person who has been three times convicted of intoxication therein, or who is an inebriate from the use of any narcotic. Section 6—No commitment shall be for a period less than six months nor more than three years. If it shall appear to said trustees that any person committed to said farm ought to be paroled, said trustees may, upon such condition as it may determine, issue to such person a permit to be at liberty for a residue of the period of such commitment, and may revoke such permit at any time during such period of commitment. The written request of the trustees shall be sufficient warrant to authorize any officer of said rant to authorize any officer of said farm or any officer authorized to serve 1915, Miss Catherine McNally, aged 39 criminal processes to return to said farm any person to whom such permit has been given, and such officer shall hold such person when so requested and shall be paid for such services as are provided for arresting and holding ons under criminal processes persons under criminal processes.
Upon the return to said farm of such person, he may be held for the residue of the period of his original commitment and the time between receiving such permit and his return to said farm shall not be considered as part of such term.

The act further provides that if any inmate of the farm shall refuse to obey the regulations he may, upon order of the trustees, be transferred to the jall of the county wherein sentence was imposed, his jail term to be in the discretion of the trustees, but not to ex-ceed the term for which such person might otherwise have been detained at

ARE IN GREAT FAVOR AT THIS

Modern Gas Range

No building of fires or carrying out ashes. Nothing to do but strike a match and the fire is ready.

A Gas Range is an Ornament in the Kitchen and a joy to the Cook.

Order now before the Summer rush.
We are also headquarters for Humphrey Gas Arcs, Welsbach Reflex Lights and Ruud and Vulcan Tank Water Heaters.
